Big Timber Purchase On Vancouver Island

VANCOUVER (CP)—The Vancouver Daily Province says the Canadian Robert Dollar Company Limited has purchased about 1,000,000,000 feet of standing timber on the east coast of Vancouver Island for more than $2,000,000.

The newspaper states the purchase was made from the Alworth timber interests of Duluth, Minn., who had held the tract for many years, and that the timber is located north of Nanaimo, about three miles from tide water.

Vote for Murphy

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Senate Judiciary committee approved today the nomination of Attorney-General Frank Murphy to be a member of the Supreme Court of the United States.

Murphy would succeed the late Associate Justice Pierce Butler. The committee also approved President Roosevelt's nominations of Solicitor-General Robert H. Jackson to be Attorney-General and of Judge Francis Biddle of Pennsylvania to be Solicitor-General.

The Senate may act on the nominations tomorrow, and there have been indications all will be confirmed.

Jews Enslaved

BERLIN (AP)—Two years of compulsory labor was ordered today for all Jews between the ages of 14 and 60 in the German-ruled section of Poland which has not been incorporated in the Reich.

Due Next Monday

OTTAWA (CP)—James H. R. Cromwell, new United States minister to Canada, and his wife, the former Doris Duke, richest girl in the world, will arrive in Ottawa January 22. They will travel by airplane.

California 'Invasion'

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—While United States army observation planes patrolled the coast, defence forces were held in readiness today to move at a moment's notice against an "invading" army expected to attempt a landing somewhere between San Francisco and Santa Barbara, some time this week in a mock war on California.

Small Clashes at Front

PARIS (AP)—This evening's communique from the Allied high command said: "Patrols and artillery activity. Local encounters between reconnaissance units."

SUB-ZERO WAVE ON PRAIRIES

WINNIPEG (CP)—The mercury dipped suddenly on the prairies today, especially in Manitoba, where mild days have upset the usual winter schedule.

In Winnipeg thermometers recorded readings of 29 below zero, coldest this winter, and forecasts this afternoon for a "decidedly cold" spell.

Below zero temperatures spread throughout Saskatchewan and Alberta. Prince Albert in northern Saskatchewan shivered in 41-below-zero weather, coldest on the plains.

QUITS AS GUARDIAN

TORONTO (CP)—Dr. A. R. Daffoe today resigned as a member of the board of guardians of the Dionne quintuplets. "It was entirely voluntary, of course," said Dr. Hepburn, answering acceptance of the resignation by the Ontario government.

Previously Dr. Daffoe had indicated his desire to retire from the guardianship role. He will remain as physician to the five sisters, however, expressing a desire to devote all his time to the physical well-being of his charges, leaving their business affairs to others.

R.C.A.F. War Games

AYLMER, Que. (CP)—War-time activity reached Britannia, Ont., and Aylmer today as planes of the Royal Canadian Air Force dived through low-hanging clouds and opened up with bursts of machine gun fire on targets in Lake Deschênes, nine miles west of Ottawa.

Pilots and planes were from the army co-operation squadron, which will join the first division of the Canadian Active Service Force overseas.

Sees War in Earnest

MELBOURNE (CP)—Richard Casey, Australian minister-designate to the United States, today warned against complacent belief that the war is as good as won.

"When the full blast of Hitler's efforts is turned on," he predicted, "Britain will be fighting for her life. The numerical superiority of the Nazis is 50 per cent in the army and 100 per cent in planes, although we have our own ideas of their relative quality."

NORWAY PROTESTS

OSLO (AP)—The Norwegian foreign office today instructed its minister in Moscow to protest against a "breach of neutrality" occasioned by flights of Russian army airplanes over Norwegian territory.

Bad Weather Holds Popham Party in East

Air Chief Marshal Sir Robert Brooke-Popham, head of the British air mission to Canada, has been delayed by bad weather on his airplane flight from Eastern Canada and will be unable to arrive in Victoria until tomorrow.

As a result the United Services Institute dinner for Sir Robert at the Empress Hotel this evening has been canceled.

Air Commodore E. A. Godfrey, head of the Western Air Command, with headquarters at Victoria, went to Vancouver yesterday to meet Sir Robert and his party. He will fly with them to Victoria tomorrow, arriving, if all goes well, in time for the luncheon at Government House.

Accompanying Sir Robert across the country on Trans-Canada Air Lines, in addition to his staff, is Rt. Rev. Charles Leo Nelligan, Bishop of Pembroke, Ontario, and senior Catholic chaplain to the fighting forces.

Sir Robert will stay at "Dyke House" as guest of Commodore Godfrey, and Bishop Nelligan will be a guest for several days at the Bishop's House, View Street, as guest of Bishop J. C. Cody of Victoria.

BISHOP SEES DIONNES
NORTH BAY, Ont. (CP)—The Dionne quintuplets puzzled today as to why their friend, Most Rev. Leo Nelligan, Roman Catholic Bishop of Pembroke, had joined the Royal Canadian Mounted Police.

Dressed in the uniform of a Canadian army officer, Bishop Nelligan, chief of the Roman Catholic chaplain service in the Canadian Active Service Force, called at the Daffoe nursery at nearby Callander Sunday when bad weather grounded the passenger plane in which he was flying to Vancouver.

"Who am I?" he asked Canada's most famous daughters. "You are the bishop," Marie said in French. "But you look like you're a Mountie." The other sisters agreed solemnly.

TROOPER ACQUITTED

MAUCH CHUNG, Pa. (AP)—Corporal Benjamin Franklin, 30-year-old state trooper, on trial for shooting 14-year-old Joan Stevens, when she pulled a toy gun on him, found vindication in his acquittal on murder and manslaughter charges resulting from her death.

Suspended since the shooting occurred, he still must face a charge of involuntary manslaughter. District Attorney Helmreich said it was "too early" to determine whether the charge would be pressed.

War Loan Opens, Mayhew Buys $36,000 Bonds

With fellow Canadians across the country, Victorians this morning invested in Canada's first loan of the present war. From Ottawa it was announced R. W. Mayhew, Liberal member of Parliament for Victoria pledged himself to take $36,000 of Canada's first war loan.

Mr. Mayhew was among some 40 advance subscribers from $10,000 to $7,500,000 reported by the Bank of Canada.

In Victoria this afternoon the movement to bond houses and banks was accelerated, although many persons, especially the big investors, ordered their brokers to invest for them.

"We were struck by the many small subscribers, which is a good sign," one bond house manager said this morning.

"Victoria is always a little slow getting started in these things, but we expect this city will be well up when we take our first count Wednesday morning," a bank manager said.

"There have been quite a number of small loans—in the $500 class—and that is most encouraging, for it is just what the government wants to prove—the people of Canada are behind the loan," said a financial agent.

At one bond house three women appeared to buy $100 bonds for their children, all less than a year old.

"When he collects his money in 20 years I hope wars will be done with forever," one of the women said. "I hope my $100—and it was hard to get together—will help end these wars."

QUITS INVEST

OTTAWA (CP)—Canada's most famous daughters, the Dionne quintuplets, were among the first to register, their guardians putting them down for $20,000.

The Sun Life Co. of Montreal subscribed for $7,500,000 and the next largest individual application was for $5,100,000 from Noranda Mines Ltd. and its subsidiaries.

The Mutual Life Assurance Company of Canada applied for $3,900,000 worth of the new bonds, and there was an application from the London Life Assurance Company for $2,500,000.

Sir Thomas White, Canada's Finance Minister during the first Great War, was among the first to subscribe.

Among the larger subscriptions were the following: La Societe des Artisans Canadiens Francsais, Montreal, $500,000; Canada Steamship Lines, Montreal, $300,000; Queen's University, Kingston, Ont., $200,000; Champion Spark Plug Co., Windsor, Ont., $200,000; Canadian Oil Co. Ltd., Montreal, $100,000; Consolidated Dyestuffs Ltd., Montreal, $100,000; Dominion Commercial Travellers' Assn., $100,000; United Church of Canada, Toronto, $100,000; Western Savings and Loan Assn., Winnipeg, $100,000.

Subscriptions for $250,000 came from Associated Breweries of Canada, Molsons Brewery Limited and National Breweries Limited. The Canadian Industrial Alcohol Company subscribed for $250,000 and its employees for $50,000 and identical subscriptions were received from the Northern Electric Company and its employees.

Other large subscribers were Credit Foncier Franco-Canadien, $150,000; Manitoba Power Commission, $160,000 and $100,000 each from Crown Trust Company, Canadian Fairbanks Morse Limited, Canada Starch Company Limited, Canada Bud Breweries, Pioneer Gold Mines Limited and Zellers Limited.

NO CANADIANS IN SWEEP DRAW
DUBLIN (CP)—No tickets held in Canada were among the first winners today in the sweepstake on the Irish Red Cross steeplechase next Saturday.

This special draw was organized on short notice with benefits to be shared among Red Cross agencies in this and other countries—including £83 (about $396) for Germany.

The biggest Red Cross apportionment goes to Great Britain, £29,765, indicating Britons were heaviest buyers. The second largest share was for Elre, £28,189. Finland's share was £514 and France's £217.

The proceeds of the sweepstake totaled £333,118—less than one-third of the usual sweepstakes draw. Officials attributed this partly to the short period for sales and also to war conditions.

Japanese City Half Burned, 300 Killed

TOKYO (AP)—Fire was belied today to have killed 300, destroyed 4,000 homes and the business district of Shizuoka, city of 200,000 southwest of Tokyo.

Insurance companies estimated losses at 10,000,000 yen ($2,342,000), with the fire still out of control tonight.

A regiment of troops and two relief trains were rushed to the city.

Domel, Japanese news agency, said half of the city, the centre of Japan's tea-shipping industry, had been destroyed four hours after the fire was discovered.

It was reported the flames spread on a strong wind, despite attempts to dynamite fire-breaks in its path, and had consumed the railroad station, post office, some municipal buildings and many railroad cars.

An airplane pilot reported he felt the heat of the conflagration flying over Shizuoka at a height of 4,500 feet.

The news agency said two schools, one temple, a telephone exchange, a department store and two branch banks were among the buildings destroyed.

Train service was disrupted.

Norway, Sweden Watch Red Moves

By MAX HARRELSON

COPENHAGEN, Denmark (AP)—Official quarters in Norway and Sweden today took a serious view of relations with Russia after a Soviet air raid on Sweden's Kallaks Island and Russia's publication of a diplomatic exchange with the two nations.

Russia accused Sweden and Norway of breach of neutrality by aiding Finland and declared Swedish and Norwegian replies to her protest were not entirely satisfactory. (See story on page 3.)

The Swedish press said publication of the exchange was not only a violation of international custom but was strikingly similar to Soviet dealings with Finland immediately prior to the Soviet invasion.

Sweden declared all aid to the Finns had been of an entirely private nature and that Swedish sympathy for their embattled neighbors was natural.

In Oslo Foreign Minister Halvdan Koht issued a statement emphasizing Norway's neutrality, saying the Norwegian reply "must be fully satisfactory to the Soviet government."

Norwegian sympathy for the Finns is natural," he said, and based on opposition to any "violent policy."

WAR FROM FINLAND

Reports in Stockholm said eight Russian planes shared in yesterday's bombing of Kallaks, on the western side of the Gulf of Bothnia and about 60 miles from the nearest Finnish territory. The small island is one of a group near Lulea, a mainland port close to Swedish iron mines.

The Liberal Stockholm newspaper Dagens Nyheter observed that many bombs had fallen in neutral countries during the war, and that the reported Russian raid on the far side of the gulf from Finland may have been a mistake.

But if it was, the newspaper added, it was a "big mistake" and "hardly flattering to the reputation of the Russian air force."

The Swedish foreign office said a protest "naturally" would be made to Russia against the Kallaks raid, but would not say whether such action had been taken yet, as some sources reported.

SNOW FLURRIES

There will probably be light sleet or snow flurries in Victoria tomorrow, it was said this morning at the Dominion Government Meteorological Observatory on Gonzales Hill.

Generally speaking, the weather will remain mild, although it will turn colder tomorrow. This evening there will be strong winds from the southeast, with cloudy skies and average temperature.

On the prairies and in the far north thermometers have dropped far below zero and Vancouver Island may feel the tail-end of this cold snap towards the end of the week.

War of Nerves

Leaves Canceled, Lowlands Mobilize Fearing Nazi Push

LONDON (CP)—The Royal Air Force in France canceled leaves today to keep at full strength, as the British Expeditionary Force did Sunday, against the possibility of any German move in the direction of the Netherlands or Belgium.

The order suspending all leaves for British soldiers at the front increased concern of a German threat to the lowlands' neutrality.

In Paris, a semi-official statement said "everything allows us to fear" a manoeuvre of "diplomatic-military intimidation directed against the western neutrals."

The War Office here did not amplify its two-line midnight communique saying "the leave from service of the British Expeditionary Force has been temporarily suspended." Official sources explained, however, that troops already on furlough would not be recalled immediately.

POTENTIALITIES

One informed observer said Great Britain took the view a German invasion of the low countries was not imminent, but that "potential danger existed."

The London Daily Express observed: "Hitler's object is to keep us guessing, and guesswork is only playing his game."

Commenting on preparations of the neutrals, the London Daily Mail said:

"One suggestion is that these increased precautions are due to friendly, unofficial warnings from Italy of a coming German attack. Neutral countries in the unhappy situation of being Germany's neighbors do not lack warnings."

It was suggested in unofficial quarters that Britain's suspension of army leaves might be a warning to Germany of her sympathy with Belgium and the Netherlands.

TENSION AMONG TROOPS

WITH THE BRITISH EXPEDITIONARY FORCES IN FRANCE (CP)—Great interest was expressed here today in all ranks at unconfirmed reports of German troop movements on the Netherlands and Belgian borders. In view of the fact that newspapers from London were two days late the nightly BBC newscasts were listened to closely by all messes. All were ready for action, but did not expect it before spring.

Major Gen. A. G. L. McNaughton, commander of the Canadian Active Service Force, was with British commanders who gathered around the radio.

6 MORE DIVISIONS

VENLOO, the Netherlands, on the German Border (CP-Havas)—German troops in the Aachen region, near the Belgian and Netherlands borders, have just been increased by six divisions, according to reports reaching here. Regiments already in position were not withdrawn, the reports said.

Belgian newspapers disclosed that "significant" instructions and documents were found aboard a German plane which was forced down near Mechlin. The plane's occupants, a major and a colonel, attempted unsuccessfully to burn the papers.

"DIPLOMATIC PRESSURE"

PARIS (AP)—France, as the Netherlands and Belgium prepared to meet any attempted invasion, made no attempt today to disguise the seriousness with which they viewed developments, but said the military had taken necessary precautions to meet any eventuality.

At a military press conference it was stated the Germans could get heavy forces into action against the two neutral countries with 24 hours' notice. The spokesman said diplomatic pressure rather than new troops movements had given rise to the present alarm, it was felt.

ARMIES MOBILIZED

AMSTERDAM (AP)—Under virtually complete mobilization, the armies of Belgium and the Netherlands were massed today behind frontier defences to meet any German threat to the Lowlands' neutrality.

Close to 1,000,000 Belgian and Netherlands soldiers were reported already ordered to positions along the meandering border—a 300-mile wall through which Germany would have to smash to outflank the Allies on the western front.

In Belgium, there were disturbing reports of new concentrations of Nazi attack troops, while in the Netherlands, a government communique spoke of "certain less favorable symptoms in the international situation."

The semi-official Belga News Agency, however, issued a note in Brussels denying what it called "alarmist stories" being "spread in Belgium and abroad" and said additional mobilization was proof only of the vigilance of the government.

THREATS DENIED

"No threat has been hidden from the Belgian public," the note said, "and the independence of sources of information and the liberty of the press should inspire calm. Belgium remains calm, but the army is on its toes."

Several newspapers expressed the view the latest phase of Belgian preparedness would be revoked shortly.

It was confirmed that Belgian Premier Hubert Pierlot conferred with Foreign Minister Paul Henri Spaak Saturday night and received foreign diplomats for exchanges of information.

GERMANS REPLY

BERLIN (AP)—Authorized Germans charge today that the present war scare in Belgium and the Netherlands was "made in Paris" and asserted Germany still clung to her oft-announced intention to avoid, if possible, any extension of the war area.

The war scare, it was said, was designed to provoke Germany into an aggressive step. The authorized sources said Germany declined to be provoked.

As seen through German eyes, the precautions taken in the small western European countries had resulted from "suggestive information" given the Belgian and Netherlands governments by French Premier Daladier.

Daladier, according to this view, clearly sees that progress cannot be made along the Maginot Line and therefore some other point of attack must be found.

It was therefore suggested to Belgium and the Netherlands, these Germans held, that Germany was about to invade their soil. This was said to fit in with an alleged British offer of a guarantee to Sweden because in the north also—as in the southeast as well—the Allied powers are anxious to widen the area of conflict, the Germans contended.

ITALIAN AIRPLANE LANDS OFF BRAZIL

RIO DE JANEIRO (AP)—The Italian embassy announced the Italian airplane Italo seeking a new world's distance record and bearing four men landed on the Brazilian island of Fernando Noronha at 12:45 p.m. (7:45 a.m., P.S.T.) today, about 3,000 miles short of its goal in Patagonia, southern Argentina.

Under command of Colonel Angelo Tondi, the plane took off from Rome at 8:20 a.m. Sunday.

It had been in the air 32 hours and 25 minutes and had covered about 4,400 miles of its projected flight at the time given for the landing.

The mark fell far short of the world record of 7,162 miles established by two British Royal Air Force planes November 5 to 7, 1938, in a flight from Ismailia on the Suez Canal to Darwin, northern Australia.

Tondi had reported earlier in the day the plane's fuel was escaping through a leak and he was proceeding on two motors trying to reach Fernando Noronha.

The aeronautics department declared the airplane had passed through a heavy storm and apparently had damaged one of the three motors.

Air officials said an Italian vessel, the Maria Eugenia, announced she was in communication with Tondi and was northeast of Fernando Noronha.

Ready for Victory

LONDON (CP)—The most optimistic village in England is Byfield, Northamptonshire. A field is booked and a band hired for a victory dance when the war ends. The villagers are determined they will not be caught the next time—they were unable to get a band to celebrate the coronation in 1937 or the silver jubilee of King George V in 1935 because all had been engaged.

U.S. Terrorist Plot Nipped to Prevent Bombing Outrage

NEW YORK (AP)—The lamentations of weeping relatives were drowned out by a frenzied chorus of "Reign, glory, we are here to see it so!"—sung by 17 handcuffed prisoners—as federal officials declared today they had "merely scratched the surface" of a terrorist plot to overthrow the United States government.

The prisoners' defiant outburst came after they were arraigned in Brooklyn and held in $50,000 bail each in connection with an alleged conspiracy to set up a dictatorship such as Hitler established in Nazi Germany.

Macklin Boettger, 32, acting as spokesman for the group, declared the members of the asserted bomb-and-gun syndicate were "all for the constitution of the United States, but we don't want Communism."

FOR DEFENCE

"We were preparing ourselves to defend the constitution against encroachments by Communists and the Communist party," Boettger said. "Now the Communists are loose, and we are here."

"We had no idea of overthrowing the government, but we were ready to overthrow those who would. We were out to assist the army and navy if and when the time came that we considered it necessary."

John F. Cassidy, one of the alleged ringleaders, interrupted to shout: "All I want to say is: Long live Christ the King, down with Communism. Be sure and put that in," he added.

WILL SEIZE MORE

More arrests were predicted by Harold Kennedy, U.S. attorney, who said Federal Bureau of Investigation agents under J. Edgar Hoover were "virtually forced" to act when they did because their investigations indicated a series of bombing outrages was imminent.

Kennedy disclosed that F.B.I. agents closed in on the suspects Saturday night because they had received information of the definite instructions issued to one of the plotters to set off a bomb in a public place.

The plot, he said, included plans to blow up buildings, raid utility plants and government offices, "liquidate" Jews, assassinate a dozen unidentified Congressmen and set up a dictatorship.

SEARCH FOR I.R.A.

He said his investigators and F.B.I. agents were checking to determine whether the alleged plotters had been sending ammunition and arms to the outlawed Irish Republican Army.

Hoover, in announcing disruption of the plot said those in custody were members of an inner circle of the Christian Front, an anti-Semitic organization. More than half the suspects, he said, served in the active reserve branches of the armed forces of the United States or were members of the New York National Guard.

Eighteen men were taken in custody in the raids, but one of them was released a few hours later when it was discovered that he was a victim of "mistaken identity."

Arraigned in Brooklyn, the men pleaded not guilty.

In Albany, Governor Herbert Lehman said he would order an immediate investigation of any connection between the Christian Front and the personnel of the National Guard.

HEAVIER PENALTIES

Representative Emanuel Celler, Democrat of Brooklyn, said he was one of the Congressmen marked for assassination, and declared he would recommend legislation to increase the penalty for sedition.

The infinitesimal size of the group, Hoover said, in no way lessened the fanatical earnestness of its members. He added that the men in numbers and zeal resembled the early group that laid the groundwork for Hitler's rise to power.

Just how the men believed they could carry out the alleged plot in a city which has a police force of 18,000 and several nearby army posts was not explained.

COUGHLIN DISAVOWED

DETROIT (AP)—Rev. Charles E. Coughlin declared he had "roundly disavowed" the Christian Front, whose members have been arrested on revolution conspiracy charges. "He expressed hope John Edgar Hoover would 'substantiate every contention made.'"

EXPERT DEFENDS RADIUM FOR CANCER

LONDON (CP)—As a clinician who has worked with radium for 16 years, E. T. Ross, in a letter to the London Daily Telegraph, has submitted a reply to Sir Leonard Hill's declaration before the Royal Society of Arts that radium is useless in the treatment of cancer.

Mr. Ross writes: "In three sites in the body radium is the best method of treatment and gives far less mutilation than surgery, and in these sites, all very common, its efficiency cannot be replaced by X-rays or surgery."

"Radium treatment is a drastic method for a terrible disease, much more so than surgery, and unless the right dose is given it is liable to be followed by necrosis of the tissues. In expert hands the dosage is now much more accurately ascertained and radium necrosis is relatively rare. Radium therapy is expensive and should, therefore, be used only for cases unsuitable for treatment by X-rays or surgery. The field of cases treatable by X-rays and surgery was enlarged of recent years, while that for radium has contracted, but even so it is essential in certain cases. Radium treatment is available for all the population whatever the person's means."

(The Ministry of Health supplies public clinics with radium purchased in Canada.)
 "Any surgeon of experience will admit that cancer in its many aspects requires all the weapons that can be brought against it. Surgery, X-rays and radium are those weapons in the order of their applicability, but each case varies and requires the appropriate agent for its relief."

PATTULLO SEES FEDERAL MINISTERS

OTTAWA (CP)—Premier Pattullo of British Columbia said here today his visit was in the nature of a periodic call on Dominion government authorities and had no special significance.

The western Premier stated he would be here a few days and might visit other points in eastern Canada before returning home. While in Ottawa he will interview several government officials on provincial affairs. It was understood that among matters Mr. Pattullo would take up would be the International Joint Commission's study of the project to build the B.C.-Alaska highway linking Alaska with the United States by a road through British Columbia.

Also of interest to the Pacific coast Premier was the share his province will play in the war effort, particularly on the economic front. British Columbia is expected to have a prominent part in building ships and in providing lumber. The British timber control board has purchased great quantities of B.C. timber already and is negotiating with Canadian railroads to move the timber by rail across Canada to eastern ports for shipment across the Atlantic.

Canada Fish Boom

TORONTO (CP)—Hon. J. E. Michaud, Fisheries Minister, said in an interview Saturday Canada's fishing industry is to enjoy its biggest boom in years because of the war. British trawlers are doing war work and consumers are depending more than ever on Canadian fish, he said.

There is a large demand at the present time for frozen fish such as cod, halibut and haddock. These are the Englishman's staple food and "you can't change their tastes overnight," he said.

Norway and Sweden Warned by Soviet

MOSCOW (AP)—Soviet Russia warned today of "danger" in her relations with Norway and Sweden, publishing both her protests to them charging violations of neutrality and their not "entirely satisfactory" answers.

In both cases, the Russian protests dealt with anti-Soviet attacks in the press and in quarters close to the governments of the two countries and with men and material going from them to the aid of Finland.

Similarly worded replies from Norway and Sweden disputed the Russian assertions and expressed hope for continued good relations with the Soviet Union.

Tass, Soviet news agency, published summaries both of the Russian representations in Oslo and Stockholm and the answers of the two Scandinavian nations, concluding:

"The governments of Norway and Sweden do not deny all the facts proving violation by them of the policy of neutrality. Such a position by the governments of Sweden and Norway conceals danger."

"It testifies to the fact that the governments of Sweden and Norway do not offer proper resistance to the influence of those powers which strive to involve Sweden and Norway in war against the U.S.S.R."

The Soviet minister to Sweden made his emphatic representations to Swedish Foreign Minister Christian Gunther January 5, and a protest in similar language was made the same day in Norway. Tass said Norway replied the next day, and Sweden answered January 10.

CLAIM FINNS AIDED
 Sweden was warned that aid for Finland and attacks on Russia in the Swedish press may lead to undesirable complications.

The Russian envoy made three points: 1. That the "inexcusable campaign" in the Swedish press could be explained only "if Sweden were in a state of war with the U.S.S.R., or preparing for a state of war." 2. That "thousands" of "volunteers" for Finland had been enlisted at 47 bureaus under "protection of Swedish authorities." 3. That Sweden was supplying arms directly to Finland and permitting the transit of "war material of every description" for the Finns.

The Russian representation to Norway charged that the Norwegian press and quarters "closely connected with the government" had been carrying on an "unrestricted campaign against the Soviet Union which cannot but cause harm and complications" to Russo-Norwegian relations.

In both nations, Tass said, "certain official personages, with the connivance and support" of authorities, launched a campaign against Russia and actions "incompatible with the policy of neutrality proclaimed by the governments of both countries."

In Sweden, the statement said, the press carried outright appeals for armed intervention of Sweden on behalf of the Helsingfors government, without interference by the government.

LEADER NAMED
 In Norway, it asserted, the press appealed for action against the U.S.S.R. It named Carl Hambro, president of the Norwegian Storting (Parliament), and other unidentified "official personages" who "assist in this campaign and even take an active part in it."

(As president of the League of Nations Assembly, Hambro presided over the session last month at which Russia was expelled from League membership.)

Tass' resume of the Norwegian answer said it gave assurances of Norway's intention to preserve "the neutrality proclaimed by it in regard to war in foreign states" and of her hope that friendly relations with the U.S.S.R. would continue.

Similarly, said Tass, Sweden's reply ended with an expression of hope it had removed the possibility of misunderstanding and had proved to Russia there was "no ground for accusations against the Swedish government."

Tass enumerated six points in Norway's reply:

1. That accusations of violating of neutrality by Norway "are based on incorrect information";
 2. That utterances in the Norwegian press against the Soviet Union emanate from private individuals and are not approved by responsible quarters;

3. That Norway renders no assistance in the organization of recruiting committees there;
 4. That Norway's laws prohibit recruiting for the military service of a foreign state and, therefore, it is not permitted;

5. That, similarly, Norwegian authorities do not assist in shipments of arms or war materials to Finland; that "if individual persons voluntarily go abroad to participate in a war, this, in the opinion of the Norwegian government, does not constitute a violation of neutrality."

6. That the transit of arms across Norway likewise is in no conflict with the international law, but that, in so far as the Norwegian government is aware, transit of war material to Finland across Norway . . . has not taken place, while private exports of these supplies take place in the most insignificant dimensions."

FREE PRESS

Sweden, Tass said, declared her people cherish ardent sympathy for Finland, and that it finds reflection in the press, but that Swedish law prevents abuse of freedom of the press, particularly with regard to insulting foreign powers and their representatives.

"In the opinion of the Swedish government," the Tass statement added, "neither its position as regards the press, nor its actions in any other domain, provide the Soviet Union with a pretext for accusations against Sweden."

"Swedish authorities render no assistance in recruiting volunteers, while officers and privates in the Swedish army do not participate as volunteers in the Finnish war."

"Transportation to Finland of various articles exported from Sweden, or their transit from other countries, cannot evoke objections. Sweden strives to maintain her trade relations with other countries."

"Finland may import from Sweden and transport in transit across Sweden various goods for which there is a demand in Finland. The Swedish government does not deem it possible to change this situation and impede the trade between Sweden and Finland."

Reds May Attack On Northern Front

By PAUL SJOEBLOM
 WITH FINNISH FORCES IN THE FAR NORTH (AP)—Indications that the Soviet Russian army entrenched along the Salla front would be forced into attack by lack of supplies were seen today by Finnish observers.

A rise in temperature after month-long sub-zero weather last week brought a sudden attack under cover of artillery fire against the Finnish northern flank, but the Reds were driven back with heavy losses.

This unexpected move was taken by the Finns to indicate the Soviets would attempt to smash Finnish defenses at the first break in the Arctic cold.

Finnish quarters expressed belief the Russians have not sufficient supplies to last them through the usual season of merciless cold which comes in late January and early February.

Thus a major drive, these sources said, would be the Red army's only chance to escape annihilation.

The Soviet forces at Salla have dug in and put up formidable fortifications. They have heavy artillery, machine guns and high-powered grenade throwers with a range of three to five miles.

Civilians in the Rovaniemi sector are seen wearing Russian army helmets with the Red star and sickle—spoils from the Suomussalmi battlefield, where the 163rd Red army division was reported shattered December 29 and 30.

The extreme difficulty of dislodging the Russians in the Salla sector by a mass attack without serious losses has restricted Finnish operations to surprise flank attacks by ski patrols and guerrilla tactics.

The Finns have been so successful in cutting Russian supply lines the Russians are reported to have resorted to the use of airplanes to drop provisions.

Many times these supplies fall on the Finnish side of the line.

Quebec Will Do Duty on War Loan

OTTAWA (CP)—Speaking in French in a broadcast on the first Canadian war loan Rt. Hon. Ernest Lapointe, Minister of Justice, said: "We will do our duty freely and I feel confident the province of Quebec, true to its traditions, will subscribe generously to this national effort."

"Canada has entered this war of her own free will. By virtue of this same autonomy she could have stayed neutral, and she could get out of it now if she would assume the responsibility of cutting off some vital ties which are her best guarantee of security and her assurance of a place in the future among the nations of the world."

"Canada is at war to safeguard her freedom, to defend it with determination as the soldier fights to hold every single inch of his native land."

"As for inflation, a product in Europe of the last war and a source of hardship for many countries at that time, Finance Minister Ralston and Revenue Minister Isley have both opposed it time and again in the name of the government as an unjust form of taxation which affects most of all the people with modest means," said Mr. Lapointe.

"Monetary inflation consists in the repeated and uncontrolled issue of paper currency. It throws into circulation devaluated dollars which compete on the market with the dollars saved by the people. All fixed incomes—salaries, insurance policies, dividends on preferred stocks, etc.—fall proportionally with the decrease in the purchasing value of the dollar."

"In other words, inflation is an unfair and unequal distribution of taxation. Through the Bank of Canada, which controls the volume of money in circulation, the government has the means to prevent this."

"The totalitarian states have other means of meeting their war costs. They can at their own will requisition to their purposes both industrial and agricultural production; they can conscript both work and money; they can commandeer the individual and turn the whole national economy to their own purposes without question."

"On the other hand, Canada is

United War Loan Effort Urged by Ralston

OTTAWA (CP)—Finance Minister J. L. Ralston calls upon Canadians to mobilize their financial resources in support of the Dominion's war effort by investing in the first war loan which went on sale this morning.

In an address over a national network of the Canadian Broadcasting Corporation last night the minister said cash subscriptions definitely would be limited to $200,000,000, but he promised a democratic country. Canada respects the elementary principles of democracy and she has no need to levy forced loans or commandeer people in order to ensure their devoted assistance to the national effort.

"Canada's first war loan is based on the sound principle which has characterized the government's policy since the outbreak of hostilities: the principle of voluntary, spontaneous and unforced assistance on the part of her people."

the small investor would get preference in allotments.

Even if there is oversubscription in the first day or two, the books will remain open in order to allow time for the small investors to get their applications on record, the minister said.

66,000 UNDER ARMS

With 66,000 Canadians already under arms in the land forces alone, a naval service that had won praise from the British Admiralty, and a rapidly increasing air force, Canada's war effort would cost $1,000,000 a day for the first war year.

"Remember that our men must fight a mechanized war against one of the most highly industrialized, highly disciplined nations of the world," said Col. Ralston.

"They must be well equipped. Dollars will save lives; you must save dollars. If you put your savings in these bonds you put them where they do most good."

neighborhood of from $400,000,000 to $500,000,000, an increase of possibly $160,000,000 over 1938, the minister said.

Cost of the Canadian war effort for the first year would be approximately $375,000,000, he said. In addition the Canadian government, by repatriation of Dominion securities held in England, had made available $100,000,000 in Canadian money for purchase of supplies by the United Kingdom in this dominion.

Week-end Rumors

SINCE SEPTEMBER 3 WE HAVE HAD SO many conflicting and puzzling reports from Europe that a few more leave us comparatively unperturbed. During the week-end we have learned that Holland and Belgium have prepared against a sudden Nazi invasion. Something like 1,000,000 men are armed to the teeth and ready for any surprise Germany may have in store. From London comes the announcement that all leaves among the members of the British Expeditionary Force have been canceled. French authorities evidently are in no mood to treat lightly new German troop concentrations on Dutch and Belgian frontiers.

These reports of apprehension in the Netherlands and Belgium, as well as evidence of Anglo-French determination not to be caught napping, have produced nothing more from Berlin than the statement that they have been "made in Paris." "Authorized Germans" reiterate that the Reich still clings to her oft-announced intention to avoid, if possible, any extension of the war area. It is their view—so we are told—that this latest scare owes its origin to an attempt to trick the Nazi high command into an aggressive step. Such protestations, of course, will be noted in London and in Paris for what they are worth. Germany ought to know by this time that any assurances she may give are not taken seriously.

Neutral observers, on the other hand, are of the opinion that if a diversion is contemplated either by Germany or Russia—individually or in military alliance—it will be tried in the Balkans and not in the Low Countries. This presupposes that Russia would make the first move, presumably on Bessarabia, if only to offset the effect Finland's stubborn resistance may soon have on the Bolshevik soldiery unless there is an early and visible turn in the tide. In that event, of course, Stalin is not unmindful of the possibility that such action would provide all the impetus required by some states to complete the establishment of a real Balkan bloc against aggression from any source.

As matters stand at present—and Hungary already has informed Russia that her negotiations with Italy were not directed against the Soviet—the revisionist states have not changed their attitude toward Rumania. Hungary still demands the restoration of Transylvania to her domain. Bulgaria repeats her right to Dobruja. Rumania would hold these claims in abeyance and deal with them later. Let it not be forgotten, however, that Italy has assured Hungary that if the Soviet should attack her, Italian aid would be forthcoming. If this means anything at all, it surely must mean that the Balkans as a whole would sink their differences and co-operate against a common foe—whether it be Russia or Germany alone or as joint invaders. It may be taken for granted, therefore, that the Allies are ready for any diversion, no matter where it may be created.

Victoria Is Proud, Too

HOCKEY ENTHUSIASTS IN CANADA and the United States were especially interested in the game in Toronto last Saturday night, between the Maple Leafs and the New York Rangers, because Lester Patrick's men from Gotham hoped to establish a new match-winning record. And it was done in noble style; they defeated the Torontonians by the comfortable margin of four goals to one. This gave the Rangers a one-game advantage over the mark set by the Montreal Canadiens in the National Hockey League season of 1927-1928—which means 19 consecutive games without a defeat. While Victorians naturally would have liked the triumph to have been a Canadian one, they have more than a passing interest in the man who is affectionately regarded as one of this community's own.

Victorians have many reasons, moreover, for the feeling of pride which they experienced as they heard of Saturday's triumph for the "Silver Fox" and his Rangers from New York. For more than a quarter of a century the name of Patrick has been virtually synonymous with international hockey; and while Lester and his brothers seem to have discovered the secret of perpetual youth, they claim no special monopoly on an elixir which permits them to ignore the old gentleman with the scythe.

It must please Victoria's Lester, incidentally, to be able to point to this new record as he reflects on the ludicrous inquiry which sports writers were directing at him only a few weeks ago. He was being bombarded with an almost unanimous chorus from hockey scribes who wanted to know what was wrong with hockey. He met these men at a dinner meeting in New York and reasoned with them. If there was anything wrong, he wanted to know it; in spite of a life's work at the game he still retained a receptive mind. He offered himself as a target for all the questions they wanted to ask. Some of them exploded of their own weakness; others were right up "his alley." There was nothing wrong. There is nothing wrong. Ice hockey still remains one of the world's most fascinating games. And we may yet see it again in Victoria if that civic auditorium scheme gets the support it deserves.

That Cup of Tea

MANY OF THE MORE EXPERIENCED and much-traveled United States journalistic commentators know Great Britain and her ways as well as and often better than the Britons themselves. One such writer has noted an announcement that the British Tommy on the western front now can get his cup of tea for 2 cents from a specially-equipped canteen car; and he thinks that in this dogged determination to preserve "the tried and true" may lie the very key to the solidity of the British Empire. He puts it this way:

"The soldier who sips his afternoon tea in a dugout and the Briton who dresses for dinner in the jungle keep England what it is—one of the greatest powers in the world. These are the same people who love their democratic traditions and the heritage of liberty too well to trade them for hollow ideologies."

"We in America are like that. We're not tea-drinkers, but we're addicted to freedom. In a sense, we learned that from England. Most of our colonists were British to the core before an arbitrary monarch tried to deprive them of the rights the people back home enjoyed. As long as there are enough people who insist on having something to say about their way of life, dictatorship won't be able to get a foothold."

Our friends on the south discovered Great Britain anew in the last war. They have subjected her on occasion since then to various kinds of "absent treatment" which may have caused temporary hard feelings. But right down at the bottom there are so many points of similarity between the peoples of the British Empire and the peoples of the United States that the periodic discordant note is not very important. Those who are wont to sound it miss opportunities for useful service in a rather crazy world.

Fritz Buys a Suit

IN THESE LONG WINTER EVENINGS millions of Germans are busy with pencil and paper working out "clothing plans" for the current year. They must calculate how they can best use the 100 points allocated to each German, male and female, under the new "Reichskleiderkarte," or Reich clothing card.

In the opinion of neutral experts, the plan represents the most ingenious attempt ever made in the field of rationing to combine the requirements of production planning with the predilections of consumers. In contrast, the five food cards (for bread, meat, fats, sugar, and miscellaneous foodstuffs) provide no choice.

Merchants are in favor of the new plan because it will put an end to the period of enforced idleness which existed during the first two months of the war, when sales were virtually blocked by the complicated system of individual permits for purchases. To prevent a "run" on the shops, which might be precipitated now that the 100-point purchase plan is in effect, only 30 points could be bought during 1939 and the remaining points will be spread more or less evenly over the present year.

How the individual will dispose of his 100 points will primarily depend on whether he believes the suits he has will carry him through the next few years (pessimists are calculating their requirements on the basis of a five years' war). If he thinks they will not, he will have to use 60 of his precious 100 points to buy a new suit. And if the war should be a long one, ersatz materials will have to be used more extensively, with the result that a 60-point suit may be very poor value.

Germany evidently has abandoned her Blitzkrieg ideas. Her troop concentrations on the Dutch-Belgian frontier are good subjects for Allied aerial photographers.

On the Home Front

From Ottawa Citizen

The Canadian Welfare Council is to be commended for pointing out that the relief problem has scarcely been touched by four months of war and that the easy assumption that war orders will soon give every man a job may be erroneous. Canada enters the first winter of the war, according to the Welfare Council's review of social conditions, "with what will prove at best perhaps 100,000 fewer persons dependent upon public aid than last winter." But to imagine that the remainder of the 875,000 persons who were on some form of direct relief at this time last year will be progressively absorbed into industry or the army is to hug a delusion.

The Welfare Council says that there are 475,000 people on urban relief—and have been steadily for four years—who will probably remain on the lists for a long time to come. In this total are 125,000 to 150,000 described as "able-bodied and employable," with 350,000 dependents. The description is deceptive, however, for few of them command marketable skill, many are worn and far from fit, and scarcely any would be eligible for the army.

Altogether "three-quarters of this total, under present methods, will never become self-supporting again." They are largely the victims of deterioration imposed by conditions in the last eight years or so. And to them must be added at least 20,000 persons admitted to be permanently unemployed.

It is not a pretty picture, although it probably is no worse than in other democratic countries. The point to be remembered, however, is that the hope that war activity will remove the relief problem is baseless. There is still much to be done on the home front.

Loose Ends

By BRUCE HUTCHISON

IT'S HERE

PRESUMABLY BECAUSE I do not own a calendar and never know the date, I have not realized until today that we are now entering on a new decade. It seems to me the new decade begins in 1941, but the experts tell me I am wrong. It has already begun and is well under way without me noticing any change. Surprising how you can take a decade in your stride when you are middle-aged, whereas a year seems so long when you are young.

Well, down in the United States, where they still have some bright minds, they have been looking back over the last decade and trying to find out what it was all about. This is not an easy job, but easier than trying to look back over a single year. For example, nobody alive can possibly know what happened in 1939, or gauge the extent or the course of the currents unloosed then. But you can look back over 10 years and guess dimly the general trend.

The New Republic, quite the ablest publication on this continent and possibly the most enlightened in the English language today, has been looking back through the eyes of a few notable thinkers, among them George Soule, who grew up some time ago. Most of the movements of the last decade are quite beyond me, of course, but I do gather one clear thought from Mr. Soule. His view is that the big thing of the last decade was its clear indication that free competition and what we knew as classic capitalism is dead.

He puts it this way: "Like many other controversies over the conduct of human affairs, the debate about whether the United States should adopt economic planning has been carried on after the issue itself was decided. We already have planning. The argument has been like that in the 17th and 18th centuries as to whether the world should adopt capitalist industrialism. By the time the greatest single document in advocacy of the new order was issued—'The Wealth of Nations,' by Adam Smith—the change was already well established and nothing could have stopped it."

NEXT DECADE

MR. SOULE THINKS that the new era, which has been emerging for a long time but became perfectly clear in the last decade, will not begin to pass in the next, but will grow stronger. He wrote his piece presumably before this war started. The war has served to accelerate vastly the speed of the change, to force every nation into more and more planning and state controls of every sort. Some of them will be liquidated after the war, some will remain. The general trend, anyway, is perfectly clear and nobody is going to stop it. The only issue remaining to be settled is: Who shall do the planning, and to what end? It is pretty important, for planning in Germany and Russia produced a fairly unsatisfactory result.

Mr. John Chamberlain, another bright lad writing in the New Republic, takes up the problem there, and with good sense. He points out that because the classical capitalism of the 19th century is dead—and dead, incidentally, by its own hand—that doesn't mean we are rushing into socialism or communism. We shall have a "melange of methods, with various types of industries taken in terms of special individual requirements. To argue for government ownership or control of the Tennessee Valley Authority dynamo is, for example, not at all the same thing as arguing for government registration of white leghorn chickens. Philosophies of centralization and of decentralization must be put forward with precise demarcations; else the 'either-or' boys will twist you beyond recognition, making you into a Fascist, a Communist or a Rugged Individualist, as suits their convenience."

FANCY LINGO

THIS IS THE FANCY LINGO they use in the better reviews and a little over the heads of people who write and read this department. But what it means is that we shall have no clear-cut decision in the decade now starting between one ideology or another. We never did have, except in the textbooks of Mr. Marx and in the German and Russian revolutions. We never had it, that is to say, among people of our race, and we never can have it with democracy and any individual freedom at all. It is bound to be a chaos, as it always has been, but the main trend continues. The main trend of the 1930's was clearly towards the management of our society through the public authority, operating in turn through many and varied instruments.

GRAVE THOUGHT

A LOT OF THINGS happened in the thirties, when you come to think of it. This is a rather terrifying thought, but fortunately few people will face the worse possibilities of the forties. It is fortunate because we couldn't stand the strain. I mean that if you had been able in January, 1929, to foresee what would happen in the next 10 years, or even in the next 10 months, you would have quietly made your will and turned on the gas. But we have lived through it, that is the curious thing, and most likely will live through the greater horrors of the forties, so long as we cannot foresee them.

And, of course, we shall never know what is happening as we go along. Who knew at the time that the most important and dangerous person arising during the thirties was a nasty little bum on the streets of Vienna who was so disregarded that the British Empire didn't bother even to arm against him?

Who knows today what person is arising somewhere—in the least suspected place, probably in the wilds of China or among the polar bears of the Arctic—to dominate the forties? Where is he? Who is he? Ah, if we knew that we could put the

Lord Lothian's Speech; Germans Now Stronger

By WALTER LIPPMAN

THE SPEECH of the British ambassador, Lord Lothian, in Chicago is, I believe, the clearest statement of British war and peace aims which has yet been made anywhere.

The statement is notable for its admissions. It recognizes that there is a new era in history. The 19th century system cannot be restored in its old form, and—a very important statement to come from the British ambassador to the United States—"Britain neither can nor ought to play by herself the dominant role that she played in the 19th century."

THE AMBASSADOR allows himself to envision a picture of the world of tomorrow. The speech indicates that he sees quite clearly what the fundamental issues in the world is. Whether this issue is conjoined by war, or whether, as for the neutrals, it remains in the sphere of diplomacy, politics and public opinion, it is one which has to be faced, for it is the issue of what conceptions will dominate western civilization and eventually be supreme on this planet.

The question is whether we are to have a totalitarian world—a world dominated by one race or an association of master-races controlling through absolute governments the lives and work of their citizens and their helots—or whether we are to give new, 20th century meaning to the words "freedom" and "democracy" and develop a co-operative world in which nations and persons can enjoy freedom, a manifold world in which the various civilizations can be brought into harmonious interplay with each other, and in which the eternal struggle of western man for freedom and equality will again be vindicated.

LORD LOTHIAN realizes that a peace based upon the latter goal must take account of great changes in the social structure of all countries and changes in international relations. It must have as its object the organization of the democracies in such a way that the general standard of living will be so stable, the volume of unemployment so small, the freedom of the individual so secure and the guarantee against war so strong that the totalitarian systems, if they survive, will be to disintegrate gradually by the impact not of our armies but of our example.

Lord Lothian believes, as President Roosevelt believes and Secretary Hull believes, that this condition of affairs cannot be achieved by any single country alone.

It can be achieved only by nations living in a world in which anarchy is ended. It can be achieved only in a world in which the major nations at least accept certain principles of international behavior. Lord Lothian suggests what some of these principles must be. He names four. They are (1) the restoration of stable international currencies on a common base; (2) the reduction of barriers to trade between nations; (3) the opening of new opportunities for settlement from crowded parts of the earth to the undeveloped parts of it, and (4) some kind of police power to take the place of the police power exercised by the British Empire as the dominant nation of the world in the last century.

LORD LOTHIAN does not believe that there is a single ideological "solution" for the manifold problems of this earth. I gather from his speech that he does not think that there is an unbridgeable gulf between socialism, democracy, private enterprise, nationalism and internationalism, but rather that what we must seek is a synthesis: not a single answer but a whole series of adjustments, each made with a definite, realistic object in view, and not a Utopian ideal.

For, this column would add, the Utopian ideal—the concept of a single solution according to a formalist creed—are what have given rise to totalitarianism, the result of which is war, the degeneration of the standard of living, the stultification of progress, and the whole mechanistic and unorganic view and organization of society.

THE BRITISH AMBASSADOR did not quote Mr. Justice Holmes in his speech, but he might well have done so. That fellow in jail now, but maybe it is just as well we can't. We might arrest the wrong man. There is just a chance—not a long one, mark you, but a chance—that the human species in this decade may throw up a good man of real stature, such as we have not produced now in our lifetime. You might keep your eye open for him, but don't be surprised if he doesn't talk English and doesn't own a tuxedo.

late great jurist once said that there could be no civilization or culture without three things: First, some modicum of private property—that is to say, some place where the individual can be absolutely secure in the ownership of what he has earned, with the right to do with it what he chooses; second, regulation of the relations between the sexes for the sake of the preservation of the family; and, third, the validity of contracts.

Our interpretation of these things may change. Certainly our interpretation of the rights of property has changed and will continue to change. But we cannot have any kind of a free social order or any kind of a civilized social order unless there is some point where the individual is free, some point where he is absolutely secure as against the state and everybody else, and unless a signature on a contract means what it says and can be enforced.

THE TOTALITARIAN states have violated all three of Mr. Justice Holmes' three prerequisites of civilization itself.

They have made the individual a subject of the state in every particular. If he owns private property, he owns it not as a right but as an act of grace that can be arbitrarily, at any moment, be abrogated.

Families have been ruthlessly broken up on racial grounds that take no account whatsoever of the psychological, spiritual and erotic ties that bind together men and women and their children.

And where all law is arbitrary all contract is invalid.

ONE HAS ONLY to compare the speech of the British ambassador with the speech made in Lodz, Poland, by Dr. Robert Ley, head of the German Labor Front, on December 17, to see the discrepancy between the totalitarian concept of an international order and the democratic concept. "The German race! That is our faith!" exclaimed Dr. Ley. "We have the divine right to rule and we shall assure ourselves of that right." And he echoed an authoritative article published in November in the Boersen Zeitung which said: "It is not true that all nations have equal rights. . . . General equal rights of peoples and nations is the same liberal fallacy as the twaddle of general human rights!"

This same liberal twaddle, however, happens to be in the line along which the western world has moved since Greece. And if western civilization means anything it means the constant re-vindication of this "twaddle."

LORD LOTHIAN'S speech was a profoundly optimistic speech, because it was a statement of faith in the future.

For the short run it was a pessimistic speech. Lord Lothian does not believe that the war is to remain in its present stage during 1940. He candidly predicted an enormous offensive by the Nazi government this spring by land, air and sea, using every weapon in its armory.

He stated that he believed Germany was in a better position to win this war than she was in 1914, because she is fighting on only one front and has little reason to fear Russia, particularly since the war in Finland has shown up the weakness of the Russian armed forces and because Germany has the most powerful air force in the world.

LORD LOTHIAN'S speech will be classed as British propaganda. Nevertheless, it must be judged wholly by its logic and truthfulness. We must ask ourselves whether this is a statement of the issues, not only the issues of this war but the issues in this world.

BACON AND MACON

From New York Times
Mention of the Macon Highway reminds us of the macon sandwich. This is not an old Southern recipe but the culinary novelty of the war in Great Britain. The conflict has developed a shortage of bacon, the great standby of the British breakfast table, and macon is the ingeniously named substitute for it. As suggested by the spelling, it is a hybrid concoction of mutton and pork, retaining a sort of verbal farewell to the vanished bacon.

English bacon isn't like American bacon, but many think it is twice as good. It resembles Canadian bacon and tastes even better. Ayrshire and Wiltshire bacon are famous, but most of it came from Denmark. How macon will be received remains to be seen. It made its debut appropriately at the buffet of the House of Commons after the recent secret sandwiches at sixpence each. The members seem to have kept their personal reactions a secret too, perhaps because most of them are Conservatives. In matters of taste the British are especially conservative. Our justly cele-

SHIPS OF CONCRETE

From the Toronto Telegram

British shipbuilders, working under the new Ministry of Shipping, are planning large scale construction of ocean-going vessels built of reinforced concrete instead of steel. Reinforced concrete ships, tried successfully during the last war in Scandinavia, France, Italy, and on a large scale, in the United States, require less steel and skilled labor for their construction than do ordinary vessels.

Tried before in Britain only on an extremely limited experimental basis, concrete ship construction demands only a slipway and ordinary building contractor's equipment. Maintenance of the finished ship is also reduced, as cleaning and painting are unnecessary.

Though entirely seaworthy, the concrete craft are considerably heavier than steel vessels of the same size and are slower. They are often launched upside down because construction is easier and cheaper, if the keel is uppermost. The hull is righted by flooding compartments on one side. Several concrete ships of Great War vintage are still in service. Their construction is approved by the technical experts of Lloyd's Register of Shipping.

"It's a Pleasure to Demonstrate the 1940 Ford V-8"

Says Bill Passmore

WE FORD V-8 salesmen are having a grand time these days demonstrating the new 1940 car. In the first place the long hood and beautiful flowing lines of the new model are universally admired. But it is the smoothness of this car's riding quality that is the most startling feature. The new Torsion Bar Ride-stabilizer, plus longer front springs and new resilient seat backs give a degree of comfort that is almost beyond belief.

Won't you call me up this week and we'll take a short ride in this marvelous new Ford V-8?

Not To Be Exploited Like Sideshow Freaks

Dr. Allan Roy Daffoe, shown in the first picture of the Quints this year with Yvonne, Annette, Marie, Cecile and Emilie, has cared for the quintes since the day he brought them into the world and will continue as their personal physician.

RED CROSS REJECTS $100,000 PROPOSAL

TORONTO (CP)—The executive committee of the Canadian Red Cross Society today unanimously rejected the proposal of the New York World's Fair that the Red Cross sponsor exhibition of the Dionne quintuplets at the fair during the coming spring.

Following a meeting of the committee, a statement was issued which said the decision was made on motion of Jackson Dods, Quebec province Red Cross representative.

Yesterday officers of the Red Cross met and announced they would recommend to the executive committee to refuse to sponsor exhibitions of the Quints on the ground that "it was not consistent with the traditions of the Canadian people nor of the Red Cross Society that these delightful children should be exploited for any purpose however worthy."

The officers met with J. C. Holmes, vice-president of the fair, who asked the society to accept for war purposes proceeds of a six-week visit of the famous sisters to the exposition starting May 11.

Mr. Holmes offered the Red Cross a $100,000 guarantee, but it was estimated the society's share from the visit would reach $500,000.

Under the plan it was proposed the children return to their northern Ontario home near Callander late in June, when the tourist rush is expected to start. The quintes would have been exhibited in a replica of their present home, on the site of the Soviet Russian exhibit now being demolished.

NOT IN GOOD TASTE
NEW YORK (CP)—The New York Times, in an editorial, questioned the "good taste" and the "fairness" of those who seek to bring the Dionne quintuplets to the New York World's Fair as one of its leading attractions this summer.

"There is more than one kind of one-way glass," said the newspaper in an apparent reference to the glass through which the quintes can be seen but cannot see themselves at their home in Callander, Ont. "There is the kind which permits well-meaning men to see box office receipts clearly but blinds them to the welfare of five girls."

The "good intentions" of Mayor F. H. LaGuardia and fair officials in wishing to bring Marie, Annette, Cecile, Emilie and Yvonne to the 1940 fair could not be questioned, said the Times, adding: "One can, however, seriously doubt the good taste of the project and its fairness to the little girls."

"The Dionnes are not freaks," it continued. "They are attractive, normal children, no prettier, brighter or cuter than many other children, and unique only because there are five of them. They do not belong in the category of bearded ladies and two-headed calves."

NOTORIETY
"They have been shown off sufficiently in Callander. They could not be brought here and exhibited without adding to the really cruel notoriety which sets them off from millions of other children."

"What of it if they are put behind a one-way glass showcase so that spectators can look at them without being visible to them? They will know perfectly well what is going on. They are no longer babies. They will be six years old next May."

"To the end of their lives they can never hope to go anywhere unnoticed. Yet their uniqueness can be put to better use than bringing visitors to the fair, or even raising funds for the Canadian Red Cross. If they have a mission in the world it is to show what tender, loving and scientific care can do for ordinary children."

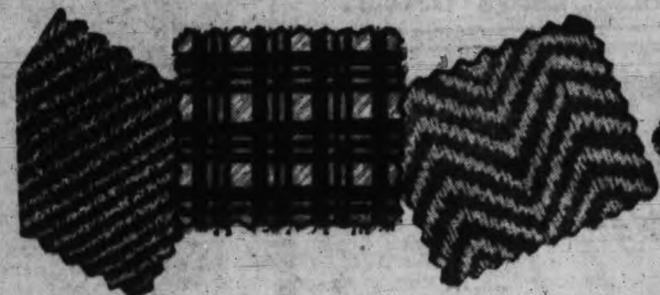

"This purpose is not advanced by making a sideshow of them. They ought to be allowed to live as nearly as possible normal lives, which they cannot do if they are to be paraded for pay before millions of people."

VETERANS TO NAME 1940 OFFICERS

The annual meeting of the local unit of the Army and Navy Veterans in Canada will be held Thursday evening at 8 in the clubrooms, when a new slate of officers will be elected. The executive committee will meet tomorrow night at 8.

Nominations follow: President, T. R. Weadon, J. S. Scarfe; first vice-president, C. Espley; second vice-president, W. Crowther; sergeant-at-arms, J. Crabbe; executive committee (10 to be elected), C. W. Dodsworth, A. H. Finlinson, G. Gardiner, J. Green, G. Harvard, H. Hume, T. Jones, C. Morrison, J. S. Mout, J. R. Mountain, C. W. Norton, J. S. Patrick, J. Paxton, J. H. Warriner; delegates to the Dominion and Provincial Commands (four to be elected), J. Sutherland Brown, W. Crowther, G. Duckitt, T. Jones and T. R. Weadon.

Mr. and Mrs. S. A. Grimmond, 1508 Fernwood Road, announce the engagement of their younger daughter, Patricia Maude, to Mr. James Keith Yorston, youngest son of Mrs. J. M. Yorston, Australia Ranch, B.C., and the late John M. Yorston, former M.P.P. for the Cariboo. The wedding will take place in February in Prince Rupert.

Weddings

McLEOD-PETTINGELL

At Christ Church Cathedral on Saturday evening at 8 the marriage of Dolores Theresa, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. B. C. Pettigell, 427 Powell Street, and Mr. Kenneth A. McLeod, only son of Mr. and Mrs. J. A. McLeod, 1822 35th Avenue West, Vancouver, was solemnized by Very Rev. S. H. Elliott, Dean of Columbia. Mr. Stanley Bailey, cathedral organist, played the wedding music.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, was lovely in her princess gown of oyster satin with a long train, long sleeves and a cowl neckline. Her fingertip veil of tulle was gathered into a coronet of pearl orange blossoms, and she carried a white prayer-book with streamers showered with bouvardia attached to a cluster of orchids at the top.

The senior bridesmaids, the bride's sister, Miss Jewell Pettigell, the bridegroom's sister, Miss Nedra McLeod, and Misses Audrey Bland and Olive Ormond, were dressed alike in frocks of turquoise blue moire with tight bodices and very full skirts, worn with doll hats of turquoise net, trimmed with wreaths of blue forget-me-nots. They carried cascade bouquets of pink snapdragons and freesias, and wore silver engraved crosses, the gift of the groom.

Little Carol Ann Graham, niece of the bride, was a dainty flower-girl in a frock of ashes of roses moire, made similarly to the senior bridesmaids' frocks, with which she wore a Juliet cap of gold mesh trimmed at the back with bows of maroon velvet, a gold cross, the gift of the groom, and carried a Colonial posy. Mr. John Rutledge, Seattle, was best man, and the ushers were Messrs. Gordon Graham, Harry Small and Ralph Sundin.

RECEPTION AT HOTEL

After the service a reception was held in the lower lounge at the Empress Hotel. Mrs. Pettigell received the guests in a smart gown of burnt orange velvet chiffon patterned with roses, with a black velvet hat and a corsage bouquet of red roses; the bridegroom's mother in queen's blue lace, with accessories en suite and a corsage bouquet of pink roses.

The three-tiered wedding cake centred the supper table, which was arranged with pink and white chrysanthemums and carnations, with lighted pink tapers in silver candelabra. Mr. Wm. Bland proposed the toast to the bride.

During the reception, Miss Swain, accompanied by Mr. Malcolm More, sang "To the Sun," "Answer," "For You Alone" and "The Newly-Weds."

Among the out-of-town guests were Mr. and Mrs. J. A. McLeod and family, Mr. and Mrs. Martin Jacoby, Capt. and Mrs. Ormiston and Mr. A. Salwyn, all of Vancouver; Mrs. B. Hilderbrand and Miss Bebe Hilderbrand and Mr. John Rutledge of Seattle.

After a motor trip south, for which the bride left in a frock of midnight blue with a matching turban and snood of French velvet trimmed with mink, and a black coat trimmed with mink, Mr. and Mrs. McLeod will make their home in Victoria.

Taking strong medicines into the stomach for colds may add to the misery by upsetting digestion. That's why 1 out of 3 Canadian mothers treat colds externally with Vicks VapoRub. Just rubbed on throat, chest and back at bedtime, VapoRub acts on the skin like a warming poultice and at the same time gives off soothing medicated vapours that are breathed direct into the irritated air passages. WEDDINGS

BRATEN-WILLIAMS

CHEMAINUS—A quiet wedding ceremony was held on Wednesday afternoon by the Rev. E. M. Cook, when Zoe, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Williams, Chemainus, became the bride of John Braten, eldest son of Mrs. Van Schall and the late Mr. Braten, Fort George.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a floor-length white tulle gown. A long veil of white net was caught back from her face with a bandeau of orange blossoms. She carried a bouquet of pink and white carnations and narcissi.

The matron of honor, Mrs. Gilbert Clark, was gowned in a multi-color tulle dress; her bouquet was of carnations and fern. Daniel Westover of Napier supported the groom.

Later Mr. and Mrs. Braten left on their honeymoon and on their return they will live at Napier. The bride wore a dress of brown and gold velvet, with a topcoat of brown tweed and accessories to match.

Esquimalt Guides Doing Good Work

The Esquimalt Girl Guides Association held its annual meeting Friday, Mrs. V. Pritchard, district commissioner, was present and 45 members, and two new members were welcomed.

The secretary-treasurer, Mrs. L. Hall, read the reports, which showed a small bank balance after having sent a cheque to the Campsite Fund for $17.50, also contributed to the main office in Vancouver besides giving a party at St. Valentine's and Halloween to the Brownies and Guides. A home-cooking stall had been held in Spencer's, two card parties given, 875 pounds of old magazines and papers had been collected and sent to the Sidney Roofing Co.

Encouraging reports were read by Miss Peggy McDonald, captain of the 7th Victoria North Esquimalt Co., which showed a very active group, an average of 20 Guides attending the regular Friday meetings.

A Christmas party was held December 30 which the 3rd North Co. attended. It was quite a success.

The Guides have been busy knitting strips from wool oddments to be sewn together to make comforters for Polish refugees. Mrs. Cresine, Tawny Owl for the Brownies, reported she had only eight members, three having left for the Guides. The Brownies are knitting afghans. The badge convener reported 22 Guides had passed their tests for cooking, domestic, cycling, nursing and even two artists had been examined for badges.

Last year's executive comprising Mrs. W. E. Barclay as chairman, Mrs. Derry as vice-chairman and Mrs. L. D. Hall as secretary-treasurer was re-elected by acclamation for another year. Refreshments were served by Mrs. Lockley.

How To Overcome Piles And Rectal Soreness

If you are annoyed with itching piles or rectal soreness, do not neglect the same or run the risk of an operation. Any itching, soreness or painful passage of stool, is nature's warning and proper treatment should be secured at once. For this purpose get from Modern Pharmacy and Gunnisham Drug Store, or any druggist, a package of Hemoroid and use as directed. This formula, which is used internally, quickly relieves the itching and soreness and aids in healing the sore, tender spots. Hemoroid is highly recommended, is easy to use and it seems the height of folly for anyone to risk an operation when a simple remedy, which is so pleasant to use, may be had at such a reasonable cost.

Modern Etiquette

By ROBERTA LEE

Test your knowledge of correct social usage by answering the following questions, then checking against the authoritative answers below:

1. Is it good manners to talk about what poor cards you have held all evening when you find yourself losing steadily?
2. Should a hostess suggest playing bridge for money, if she isn't sure that all her friends can afford to lose?
3. How long should a woman paying a first call stay?
4. Does a woman of middle age speak of her friends as "women," "ladies" or "girls?"
5. If you are a guest at a dinner party in a restaurant, should you leave a tip for the waiter?

What would you do if—

- (a) Accept the invitation with a laughing mention of your game?
- (b) Refuse the invitation?

ANSWERS

2. No.

A Short History Of Russia

VI—Vladimir Helped Make Russia Christian

A thousand years ago, the Russians prayed to gods which people nowadays call "pagan." The chief god was known as Perun, and he was said to have power over thunder.

Famous old Monastery in Moscow.

Among the other deities was Stribog, god of the winds, and Khorse, god of the sun. Images of the gods were placed in temples.

A Russian ruler named Vladimir was a champion of the old faith for many years of his life. Then he married a Christian princess, and took on the Christian religion.

Vladimir spent most of his time in Kiev, a city in western Russia with two rivers running through it. After he turned Christian, he ordered images of the old gods to be pulled down, including one of Perun which had a silver head and a golden beard. Men were ordered to whip the image of Perun and to throw it into a river.

Those who believed in the old religion were sorry to see such a thing happen to their chief god. When officers of the law had left, they fished Perun out of the river and began to pray to him. This did not last long—soldiers came to the spot and broke up the crowd. Then they tossed Perun back into the water.

Soon there came an order for all the people of Kiev to make ready to be baptized. Thousands of men, women and children entered the water while priests read the words of the baptism service.

Scenes of the same kind later took place in other parts of Russia. People in cities made the change fairly peacefully, except in the old city of Novgorod. In Novgorod there was bloodshed when the people would not obey orders.

At that time, as in the modern age, Russia was mainly a farming country. The farmers were less ready to change their religion than the city folk. More than 300 years passed before the old pagan faith was ended on Russian farms.

It would be a mistake to suppose that a nation's religion could be changed by force alone. Force was used in Russia, but the people probably would have gone back to their old faith if it had not been for missionaries. Earnest servants of the Greek Christian church traveled about Russia to teach their faith to the people.

Christian churches of large size and great splendor were built in Russia. Many of the present-day Russian churches are hundreds of years old.

HOROSCOPE

Tuesday, January 16

This should be a fairly fortunate day, especially for employers. The stars encourage mental keenness, helping men to understand one another's problems. Need of strong leaders in all nations is indicated. The navy will focus attention.

Self-discipline should be stressed. Among the young the inclination toward independence will become troublesome. As nations submit to severe regulations, members of families should live according to strict rules of conduct. Economy should be practiced by all classes.

Commerce will be seriously affected by factional employees and business will reflect the heavy losses sustained by importers and exporters. First of the year statistics regarding employment problems will reveal many persons drawing government salaries.

The conjunction of Jupiter and Saturn late this year will mark the peak of power for certain dictators. The stars seem to presage victory for the most ruthless leader over the other dictators. Stalin is the man most to be watched and the peril of his power will extend to places of concern to the democracies. The winter will cause great suffering for soldiers.

WHAT THREE FORCES CAUSE A ROLLING BALL TO STOP?

ANSWER: Ground friction, air resistance and gravity.

Dorothy Dix's Letter Box

DEAR DOROTHY DIX—My fiancé finds only one fault with me, and that is that I am not a woman's woman. He says that women run the community and that a girl should have friends of her own sex, but I have none, not even among the girls with whom I have grown up. I am quiet during the course of conversation when a lot of women are talking, but I have plenty to say to men. I am not a good mixer with women, but feel at ease with men. If women invite me to places, I usually make an excuse and decline. Because I have no women friends my fiancé fears that after we are married I will be lonesome. Can you tell what I must do to make friends with women and get closer to them and to be able to stand up for myself with them and make them like me? ISOBEL.

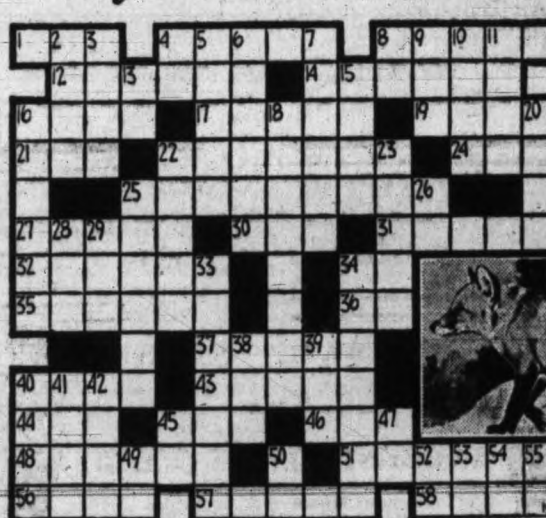

ANSWER: Your fiancé is quite right in stressing the importance of a woman having women friends. It is the women who make the wheels go around socially, and anyone who does not have some feminine connection is very likely to have a pretty thin time of it.

Especially after marriage when a girl is removed from the camaraderie of the office to her own house where her husband is about the only man she sees, when there are no more beaux, very few parties, not much running around at night, is she sunk if she has no girl friends to go about with, no women's clubs to interest her, no bridge foursomes to belong to, no hen luncheons to go to.

Evidently you are one of the women who have never thought it worth while to cultivate their own sex, so you have a hard job before you. But you can make friends with women by being friendly, showing you are interested in them, and taking as much trouble to please them as if they were men.

DOROTHY DIX.

Row on Street Attracts Crowd

Two men appeared in the City Police Court this morning following a disturbance at Yates and Douglas Streets shortly after midnight Saturday, which attracted a crowd of between 300 and 400.

The men were Alfred Davis, who was fined $25 or five days on a charge of drunkenness, and Fred Watson, who faces a charge of assaulting a peace officer, Constable Robert Davidson, in the execution of his duty. Watson was remanded until Thursday for trial.

Police reported the disturbance started while Constables John Blackstock and Davidson were in the act of arresting Davis. The officers found it necessary to hold Davis on the ground while awaiting arrival of transportation from headquarters and allege Watson stepped out from the crowd and kicked Constable Davidson.

Police also reported a soldier in the crowd had attempted to promote a further disturbance by urging the bystanders to start a row with police and for this act the soldier was reported to military authorities.

'Can't Get Away With It' Girl Told

With an admonition that he was going to prove to the accused she could not do anything she wanted to and get away with it, Magistrate Hall this morning in the City Police Court, sentenced a young girl to three months and 10 days imprisonment for forgery and false pretenses charges.

The girl was convicted last week on both counts, one being the forging of a cheque in her father's name and the other of obtaining a tin of cigarettes by false pretenses.

"I am satisfied you knew what you were doing," Magistrate Hall said. "I think the reason for these and your previous offences was you got it into your mind that you could do anything and get away with it. On that basis I am dealing with those charges to prove you can't."

Nineteen-year-old Andy and Ronny were good friends. Ronny built a shack and Andy helped him as a good friend would. But then they had differences and Andy became peeved at his companion. After thinking it over a few days he went to Ronny's shack to talk over their differences but when he arrived Ronny was not there. In the impulse of the moment, Andy took Ronny's radio after breaking into the shack.

Shortly after he sold the $20 radio for $4.50 to a second-hand dealer. Police traced the deal and Andy was arrested for breaking and entering. This morning, in the City Police Court, his counsel, H. A. Beckwith, pleaded for suspended sentence because he did think Andy could be saved from a criminal career. Mr. Beckwith, who entered the case as a representative of the local bar association's legal aid committee, said he had investigated the circumstances and was satisfied there was no real criminal intent on Andy's part.

Magistrate Hall remanded the case until tomorrow to consider Mr. Beckwith's plea.

Lumber From B.C.

John F. Nicoll, deputy colonial secretary of the British administration of Trinidad, who is spending a holiday with his wife in Victoria, says the Trinidad government, in keeping with its Canadian trade agreement, displays a preference for British Columbia lumber.

Douglas fir is specified whenever possible when tenders requiring lumber are called, he said. Shingles are also finding favor in Trinidad to replace corrugated iron roofing commonly used in the West Indies.

He qualified for his commercial pilot's license in Victoria and after piloting a plane over the continent to Bristol, Penna., obtained his instructor's ticket in Toronto and in June last was appointed temporary first officer, Imperial Airways. In common with all such appointments he had to qualify for British standing in license, engineering and navigation, taking first place in engineering bracketed with an Indian government scholarship pilot. He was well known in Victoria rugby circles, playing for 16th Canadian Scottish and Victoria College.

SOLDIERS FORM CONCERT PARTY—Versatile young soldier entertainers from a nearby fort here organized the Zig Zags concert party which made its appearance before a gathering of Great War veterans Saturday night in the Army and Navy Veterans clubrooms.

Henderson Fails On Appeal Here

John Henderson, sentenced to five years for breaking and entering the Cormorant Street room of William Chinnick on November 5 and robbing the latter, failed in his appeal against conviction before the Court of Appeal here today.

Appearing in person the prisoner stated his identification had not been established, and that the trial judge, Magistrate H. C. Hall, had been prejudiced by his record of previous convictions.

Mr. Justice McQuarrie, presiding for the case, declared the prisoner had advanced no grounds to sustain an appeal and the court was not disposed to reverse the conviction.

Mr. Justice Sloan, while noting positive identity was not indicated in the report of the case, drew to the prisoner's attention the fact he had been badly beaten and that there was blood on Henderson's sweater sleeve and wrist when he was taken into custody. When, coupled with Henderson's efforts to secrete money in the heel of his shoe, were points which, with other circumstances, could justify the trial judge in reaching his conclusion.

Prior to the hearing the court, under Chief Justice Archer Martin, formally dismissed the crown's appeal against a Vancouver County Court acquittal of Wayne Savage. Savage had been charged with being in control of a car while intoxicated, but had been freed. W. B. Colvin, of the Attorney-General's department, asked suspension of formal dismissal for another week to permit the department to receive instructions from the Attorney-General. The crown had previously filed notice of abandonment of the appeal, and the court formally dismissed the case.

LOWDEN—Robert Lowden died suddenly yesterday at his home at Esquimalt Lagoon. Funeral arrangements will be announced later.

Water Rate Will Be Retroactive

When a rate is established for water supplied by Victoria to Oak Bay, payment of any sums in excess of the amount met monthly by Oak Bay will be based retroactively on the established charge, it was learned at the City Hall today.

At present the city bills Oak Bay at the rate of 12.08 cents per 1,000 gallons. Oak Bay pays at the rate of 7.5 cents per 1,000 gallons, ignoring the city's billing and continuing to observe the figure in force when the last water agreement between the two expired on December 31, 1937.

The difference between that payment and the figure established by the provincial Public Utilities Commission will be met when the latter body finally establishes a rate following completion of arbitration hearings.

Metropolitan Opera To Get Opera House

NEW YORK (CP)—The board of the Metropolitan Opera and Real Estate Co. has voted to authorize sale of the opera house to the Metropolitan Opera Association, producers of opera.

Chauncey Balknap, counsel for the company, said that under the deal, made subject to one condition, the association would pay $1,970,000, partly in cash and partly in bonds. The condition was that the association agree to indemnify the real estate company against liability on appraisal suits brought by stockholders who have objected to the sale on the ground the price is too low.

The dissenting stockholders are owners of parterre boxes in the Met's famed "diamond horseshoe." They have declared the assessed valuation of the building at Broadway and 40th Street is more than $5,000,000.

Paul Robeson Sings Again on Broadway

NEW YORK (CP)—The booming voice of Paul Robeson, famous negro singer, is reverberating again through a Broadway theatre after an absence of eight years.

The singer last walked a Broadway stage in 1932 in a revival of "Show Boat." He is now starred in "John Henry," described as "a fantasy with music" by Roark Bradford, music by Jacques Wolfe.

Robeson plays the part of the legendary John Henry, negro Hercules, cotton roller and rail layer of the old South.

R. M. Palmer, 81, Bulb Grower, Dies

British Columbia lost one of its best-known agriculturists this week-end in the passing at Cowichan Bay, after a brief illness, of Richard Mason Palmer, 81, famed grower of gladioli.

Born in Jayton, Norfolk, England, he had lived in British Columbia 49 years.

At the turn of the century he was with the provincial government service as head of the department of agriculture and the publicity bureau. In this capacity he took an active part in land settlement schemes and the bringing of immigrants from England to the coast.

Shortly after the province adopted party politics Mr. Palmer left the government service and went to Kamloops where he was interested in irrigation development. About 25 years ago he located in Cobble Hill and began the development of a bulb farm. He specialized in gladioli and in this line was a pioneer among Vancouver Island growers. His flowers have been frequent winners at fairs and shows in the last two decades and he helped to build up the export trade in bulbs.

Mr. Palmer was a member of Victoria-Columbia Masonic Lodge.

He leaves a widow, two sons, Richard C., superintendent of the Dominion Experimental Station at Summerland; and Frank, in charge of a Dominion station in Ontario; two daughters, Beatrice, at home, and Mrs. J. Winlow of Prince Rupert.

Services will be at St. Peter's Church, Quamichan, tomorrow morning at 11.

Victoria Youth To Discuss War

A social and open forum will be held on Thursday evening at 8 in the Y.M.C.A. auditorium under the auspices of the Victoria Youth Council in collaboration with the young people's groups of the city. Participating clubs will be the Y.M.C.A. Phalanx, Y.W.C.A. Omphalos, Versatiles, Centennial Y.P.S., the United Church Y.P. Union, Victoria Truth Centre Y.P.S., Victoria College Men's Discussion Club, Chinese Canadian Youth Forum, Chinese Youth Association, Popular Youth Club, Trades and Labor Council and many cultural and semipolitical youth organizations.

All youth groups are invited to be present and to take part on the open forum dealing with the war policy of the Youth Congress. Speakers will be limited to four minutes each. It is expected that many points of views will be expressed on the question of conscription.

In addition there will be community singing and a social period.

The committee in charge included John Kezler of the Victoria Truth Centre and Mabel McCartney of the Y.W.C.A.

All youth groups wishing to co-operate in creating a better understanding among the different societies in Victoria are invited to write to the Youth Council, at the Y.W.C.A.

'STAGE DOOR' PLAZA PICTURE

A striking cross-section of life among ambitious girls from every walk of society who hitch their wagons to the stars, revealing their defeats, triumphs, heart-aches and heart-throbs, is woven into the thematic pattern of R.K.O. Radio's "Stage Door," co-starring Katharine Hepburn, Ginger Rogers and Adolphe Menjou, and now at the Plaza Theatre.

Katharine Hepburn is fittingly cast as the high-strung emotional actress who reaches the pinnacle of dramatic success, while Ginger Rogers plays the meaty role of the vivacious night club entertainer who finally finds happiness with a good-looking press agent.

Your Fight For Freedom

Enlist now to fight on the home front

Canada's First War Loan is now open for subscription. When you buy First War Loan Bonds you accomplish in one stroke two important things.

First, you have a personal part in this war against Hitlerism. You know that this is not just anybody's war — it is your war. It is a desperate fight for freedom — your freedom.

Secondly, you invest your money in Dominion of Canada bonds which rank among the safest investments in the world. Rates and terms are such that you secure a prime investment on an attractive basis. On this point:—"There may be some who expect or fear that interest rates will rise substantially, perhaps a few who are thinking in terms of conditions during the last war. Such a view completely overlooks the vast changes that have taken place. We do not expect... any material change in interest rates from peace time levels..." (Budget Speech, Special War Session, House of Commons: Sept. 12, 1939.)

Now is the time to put some of your savings to work by moving them into First War Loan Bonds. Help Canada to destroy the menace against your freedom, your security — and your savings.

Bluenose Again Offered for Sale

LUNenburg, N.S. (CP)—The schooner Bluenose, queen of the north Atlantic fishing fleets, was up for sale again today.

Advertisements posted by her owners, the Bluenose Schooner Company Limited, offered no explanation of why they were selling the windsurfer, known wherever seamen gather as the fastest vessel of her class that ever hoisted sail.

The announcement merely calls for tenders for the ship, her racing sails and her fishing gear.

It is the second time in three months that the Bluenose, winner of the International Fishermen's Racing Trophy, has been up for sale. In November she was to be sold at a sheriff's sale to satisfy a claim of $7,000 against her.

At the last minute, Capt. Angus Walters, the salty-tongued skipper who sailed her to victory in half a dozen races off Halifax and Gloucester, walked in and thumped the money on the counter to save the ship from an execution for debt.

The Bluenose won her first race in 1921 against the Elsie out of Gloucester. In 1938 she clinched the trophy for good by outstriking Capt. Ben Pine's Gertrude L. Thebaud off Boston.

British Prize

HAMILTON, Bermuda (CP Cable)—A British prize crew sailed the 4,930-ton German freighter Duesseldorf into harbor here, the British flag at her jackstaff and her name changed to Poland in honor of the man who captured her.

The Duesseldorf was taken by the British cruiser Despatch commanded by Commodore Poland, off the Chilean coast several weeks ago. A prize crew was put aboard, and she was brought to Bermuda via the Panama Canal. Canal zone authorities permitted her to pass against Nazi protests.

Byrd Expedition Reaches Antarctic

WASHINGTON (AP)—Rear Admiral Richard E. Byrd reported to the navy today that his Antarctic expedition flagship North Star had reached the Bay of Whales base in the Antarctic.

Difficulties were met in attempts to unload the huge snow cruiser to be used in exploration. Byrd reported usually accessible harbors were filled with ice. Finally, "an excellent stretch of ice suitable for launching the huge vehicle was located in Kainan Bay and preparations were made for unloading."

Around the Docks— PRINCESS ELAINE RESUMES SERVICE

Repairs to the C.P.R. steamer Princess Elaine were completed by the Victoria Machinery Depot Ltd. in Esquimalt drydock over the week-end and the vessel resumed service today between Nanaimo and Vancouver. The Elaine sustained slight damage when she touched bottom recently leaving Esquimalt harbor.

Yesterday she cleared from this port for Nanaimo and took up her regular schedule at 7:30 this morning from Vancouver.

The Princess Victoria, which has been relieving the Elaine, returned here today and will be laid up temporarily.

Lumber Moving Today

Although B.C. millmen are shouting for more tonnage to handle the export output of the province, Victoria had no complaints today with every berth occupied at the Canadian National docks at Ogden Point occupied. The longshore gangs experienced a field day with over 3,000,000 feet scheduled to go over the docks to complete four cargoes of lumber. The pressure of space at the local docks increased later in the day, but it was expected that the situation would be relieved by tomorrow.

11 British Ships Sunk in Week

By the Canadian Press
Germany destroyed 41,347 tons of British merchant shipping in the week ended January 12. The losses of other nations were small.

Britain's major loss of the week was the 10,002-ton passenger liner Duabur Castle, which struck a mine off the British east coast shortly after sailing on a voyage to South Africa.

Although Germany lost no ship during the week due to direct action of Allied naval patrols, the 8,558-ton German steamship Bahia Blanca, trying to sneak through the blockade, struck an iceberg off Iceland and sank.

Furthermore, any doubt regarding the fate of the German liner Ussukuma, 7,834 tons, was banished when the vessel's crew was landed. The ship was scuttled by her crew when approached by a British warship in the South Atlantic last month.

The week's merchant losses were: Eleven British ships of 41,347 tons; one French ship of 4,285 tons; one Italian ship of 5,123 tons; one Norwegian ship of 1,343 tons and one Netherlands ship of 176 tons.

Midwinter Bargain Fare to Coast

WINNIPEG—Midwinter bargain fares from all points in western Canada, including Port Arthur, Armstrong, Ont., and west to the Pacific coast, are announced by J. A. Brass, secretary Canadian Passenger Association, covering both Canadian National and Canadian Pacific Railways.

These fares, to go on sale February 17 to March 2 inclusive, will have a 45-day limit, which allows a generous holiday period for midwesterners who desire to travel to the Pacific coast.

Stop-overs will be allowed en route, within the time limit, on all three classes of tickets: Coach, tourist and standard. The last two types of transportation admit of sleeping-car privileges on payment of the regular berth charges.

French Ship Losses

PARIS (AP)—Eleven merchant ships, totaling 55,771 tons—approximately 2 per cent of France's prewar merchant fleet—have been lost since the beginning of the war, Naval Minister Cesar Campinchi announced Saturday.

Seven of the 11, aggregating 46,850 tons, were sunk by submarines, he said.

The Germans have failed to damage or sink a single French warship, Campinchi asserted.

Of 30 or more German submarines known to have been sunk by the Allies, 10 were sent to the bottom by the French, he declared. The French destroyers Siroco and Adroit accounted for three each.

Howie McPhee appeared to have lost much of his former speed.

The Victoria team follows: Fullback, Jack Ferguson; three-quarters, Doug Willard, Brent Murdoch, Harry Barber, Bill Halsett; five-eighths, Jack Grogan; halfback, George Langdon; forwards, Ian Acland, Doug Bray, Bob Blair, Frank Doherty, Cyril Doherty, Bert Simpson, Bill Thompson and Campbell Forbes.

bound past Dave Kerr as the goalie lay on the ice.

Kerr fought off the Leafs until Macdonald's pretty goal, and Toronto's last chance went when Bing Hammill hit a goalpost while Muzz Patrick of the Rangers served a penalty. Immediately the New York team forced a face-off and again Watson and Hextall were off, Watson scoring after a passing bout. Another breakaway brought the final goal, scored by Neil Colville with Alex Shibicky's aid.

Refusing to let down after attaining the new mark, the Rangers fought like mad before the record Chicago crowd. George Allen, a former Ranger, scored the first-period goal that put the Hawks ahead to stay and as the battle grew more bitter a free-for-all fight broke out in the second. Through it all Goodman was superlative.

Cully Dahlstrom made the lead 2 to 0, after seven minutes of the third and the Ranger fire grew more intense. Finally it brought a goal through Alf Pike on Clint Smith's rebound with three minutes to play. But Smith had to get Goodman out of the net before the score and the Rangers couldn't catch him in that predicament again.

The actual net result of it all for the Rangers was a first-place tie with Boston, for the Bruins kept pace last night by trimming Montreal Canadiens 4 to 2 before 10,000 lookers-on at Boston. Toronto was left four points behind the co-leaders and 10 points ahead of the fourth-place Chicago club.

HAMILL GETS TWO

Red Hamill, who has come into his own after three years of shifting between the Bruins and their farms, scored two of three Boston goals in the final period. The home team took a lead on Bill Cowley's goal late in the first but Louis Trudell tied the count in the second to set the stage for Hamill's burst.

The red head put his club ahead to stay after three minutes of the third. After Woody Dumart had scored on a penalty shot, Hamill raised the count to 4 to 1 as Cowley registered his third scoring point of the night on an assist. Bill Summerhill fired the last Canadian goal 21 seconds from the finish.

Old Nels Stewart, who has the habit, punched the only goal of a dull match to give Americans a 1 to 0 verdict over Detroit Red Wings at New York. The result left the two teams tied for sixth and last position.
